This book was produced in EPUB format by the Internet Archive.

The book pages were scanned and converted to EPUB format automatically. This process relies on optical character recognition, and is somewhat susceptible to errors. The book may not offer the correct reading sequence, and there may be weird characters, non-words, and incorrect guesses at structure. Some page numbers and headers or footers may remain from the scanned page. The process which identifies images might have found stray marks on the page which are not actually images from the book. The hidden page numbering which may be available to your ereader corresponds to the numbered pages in the print edition, but is not an exact match; page numbers will increment at the same rate as the corresponding print edition, but we may have started numbering before the print book's visible page numbers. The Internet Archive is working to improve the scanning process and resulting books, but in the meantime, we hope that this book will be useful to you.

The Internet Archive was founded in 1996 to build an Internet library and to promote universal access to all knowledge. The Archive's purposes include offering permanent access for researchers, historians, scholars, people with disabilities, and the general public to historical collections that exist in digital format. The Internet Archive includes texts, audio, moving images, and software as well as archived web pages, and provides specialized services for information access for the blind and other persons with disabilities.

 ILLINOIS AND MIAMI VOCABULARY AND LORD'S PRAYER. We are indebted for this relic of the old Catholic Missions to Wilberforce Eames, Esq., of the Lenox Library. The manuscript was at some one of the old missions early in this century, as words from it and the Lord's Prayer are given in the "Notice sur Y Etat Actuel de la Mission de la Louisiane," Paris, 1820, p. 49; Turin, 1822, p. 51. It is a manuscript of 4 11. containing 7 unnumbered pp. in double columns, 4to, and is in the Lenox Library. It was apparently written in the latter part of the seventeenth or early part of the eighteenth century. On the verso of the last (blank) page is the endorsement "Commencement d' un Dictionnaire de Langue Sauvage." There is also a copy of this manuscript in the library of the American Philosophical Society, Philadelphia. It was made by Mr. Duponceau and forms No. lii of a collection recorded by him in a folio account book, of which it occupies pp. 159-162. Like the original, it is without indication of date or name of author. Elémens pour sèrvir à la formation d' une grammaire des langues sauvages des Nations des Pian, des Illinois, des Mi, lesquelles nations s' entendent parfaitement les unes les autres quoiqu' il y ait quelque différence dans leurs langues. Elements to serve for a formation of a Grammar of the Indian languages of the Pian(keshaw), Illinois and Mi(ami) Indians, tribes which understand each other perfectly, although there are some differences in their dialects.
